

Protecting Human Rights

Train-the-Trainer

Friday 13 June 2008 - Sydney CBD

Friday 29 August 2008 - Sydney CBD

This one-day workshop will equip you with knowledge and skills to conduct human rights training in your network, group, organisation or sector. Many of the rights we take for granted have no protection under Australian law. Human rights are a way of promoting social justice for disadvantaged people. This training will be useful for anyone who is interested in understanding and speaking out about human rights.

Workshop content

- Understanding Human Rights
 - Principles underpinning human rights
- International Human Rights System
 - Sources of international human rights, treaties signed by Australia, types of human rights
- Human rights protection in Australia
 - Sources of law in Australia, how rights are protected, the gaps in protection and rights that have been eroded
- Impacts of gaps in human rights protection
 - Identifying breaches, what can be done and what needs to be done
- What rights could a Bill of Rights include
 - Can we reach agreement on what should be included?
- Models of human rights protection
 - Constitutional and legislative examples
- An argument for a Bill of Rights
 - Debate the issues
- NSW Charter Group
 - What would make a difference in NSW

Public Interest Advocacy Centre (PIAC)

piac@piac.asn.au

The Public Interest Advocacy Centre (PIAC) is an independent, non-profit legal and policy centre. It is the oldest specialist public interest law organisation in Australia and continues to be at the forefront of public interest law. PIAC makes strategic legal and policy interventions in public interest matters to foster a fair, just and democratic society and to empower citizens, consumers and communities. PIAC's work is often with people or communities who have least access to economic, social and legal resources and opportunities, and their advocates.

Comments and Complaints

PIAC aims to provide a high level of service. If you want to make a comment or complaint about PIAC's service please discuss with the staff involved or the CEO or by e-mailing rbanks@piac.asn.au.
